

IT FLOATS YOU AROUND

Countless imperfections hidden away
Rules did not comply to what we had in mind
Boundless thoughts did rage with no dismay
Deemed invincible the world fell at our feet

But leaves just don't stay green, they color and fall

Stuck in a daydream, the wind lifts you up

And it floats you around

It lifts you up and it floats you around

Merciless years consume you in every way
The untroubled one got replaced with distrust
Slowly melancholy fills the heart as you look back at the start
Of a life with no constraints

But leaves just don't stay green, they color and fall

Stuck in a daydream, the wind lifts you up

And it floats you around

It lifts you up and it floats you around

It floats you around

It floats you around

It floats you around

It floats you around

But leaves just don't stay green, they color and fall

Stuck in a daydream, the wind lifts you up

And it floats you around

It lifts you up and it floats you around

It lifts you up and it floats you around

It lifts you up and it floats you around

It floats you around

It floats you around

It floats you around
